SINGAPORE MARKET TO USE JISDOR BENCHMARK

Singapore, 18 February 2014 – ABS Benchmarks Administration Co Pte. Ltd. (ABS Co) and the Singapore Foreign Exchange Markets Committee (SFEMC) announced today that the USD/IDR spot rate benchmark, currently known as “IDR VWAP” will be discontinued. The last day of publication of this benchmark will be 27 March 2014.

SFEMC recommends that market participants apply IDR JISDOR, currently reported by Bank Indonesia (BI) and published on BI’s website, with effect from 28 March 2014. SFEMC also recommends that market participants with contracts entered into prior to 28 March 2014 that reference IDR VWAP and remaining outstanding on or after 28 March 2014 transit their contracts to reference IDR JISDOR.

An ABS Co spokesperson said, “This change reflects the industry’s guiding principle that where a suitable alternative benchmark exists, it should be used. In terms of process, this is similar to the transition to the Malaysian onshore benchmark last year. This transition is more relevant to corporate and institutional customers, and is not expected to impact retail customers. As before, we will work with relevant industry bodies to prepare the necessary documents to facilitate a smooth transition.”

The ABS Co and SFEMC will continue to work together to enhance the robustness, transparency and efficiency of financial benchmarks in Singapore.
